

THE MISSION of the Food Bank for Westchester is to lead, engage and educate Westchester County in creating a hunger-free environment.

The Food Bank for Westchester serves over 265 local hunger-relief programs throughout Westchester, including food pantries, soup kitchens, child and adult day-care centers, and shelters. The Food Bank provides 95% of all food distributed to hungry families, children and seniors within our network.

LAST YEAR, THE FOOD BANK FOR WESTCHESTER DISTRIBUTED 6 MILLION MEALS TO HUNGRY PEOPLE IN NEED THROUGHOUT THE COUNTY.

DEAR FRIENDS AND SUPPORTERS:

When the Food Bank for Westchester took root in the community 26 years ago, the idea of suburban poverty was incomprehensible.

Yet hunger has established a foothold here, and suburban poverty is now an everyday reality. With an ever-consistent number of residents facing chronic food insecurity, the challenge today is to not only feed the steady line of hungry children, seniors, working poor and jobless adults, but to also find ways to shorten the line for the future—tackling the very roots of hunger.

As the backbone of the county's emergency food distribution system, supporting 265 front-line hunger relief programs, the Food Bank for Westchester has evolved with the hunger crisis. We have reacted to the reality of suburban poverty, recently merging with The Westchester Coalition for the Hungry and Homeless to combine our collective resources and further advance our fight against hunger.

Over the last year, the Food Bank has made dramatic strides in supporting the agencies that feed the 200,000 Westchester residents that are food insecure. Last year alone, we distributed 7.2 million pounds of food, including over 1 million pounds of fresh food through Direct Distribution Programs. As we strengthen the agencies' efforts to "feed the line," they will be empowered to focus their energies on helping to transition people out of poverty.

For over 26 years, we have leveraged our connections to help break the cycle of hunger. We have brought resources together from all segments of the county including corporations, foundations, government, community and religious groups and individuals. As we strengthen our advocacy role and tap new partners to accomplish our goals, your support is even more vital.

We would like to thank you—our donors, board members and volunteers—for your generous contributions, and we invite you to join us as we expand our reach, impact and influence. With everyone at the table, we can rise to meet the challenges we are facing so that one day, hunger will no longer have a place in Westchester.

Sincerely,

ELLEN LYNCH
President & CEO

RICK RAKOW
Chairman of the Board

What We Do

The Food Bank for Westchester is the central hub for the county's hunger relief efforts. We secure and distribute food, build partnerships and mobilize volunteers so that hungry children, seniors, working poor and jobless adults get the food they need to make it through each and every month.

Why We're Essential

The Food Bank for Westchester's expertise in procuring, warehousing and distributing large quantities of shelf-stable and fresh food makes it possible for the 265 front-line hunger relief programs in Westchester County to meet demand. Our people, programs and partners help centralize hunger relief and our shared strengths drive efficient, innovative solutions.

SUBURBAN POVERTY: A NATIONAL ISSUE

"Since 2000, the number of poor people in the suburbs has grown by 64 percent, compared to 29 percent growth in cities. The suburbs are home to 3 million more impoverished residents than big cities and 9.1 million more than rural areas."

-THE BROOKINGS INSTITUTE

AN ONGOING REALITY IN WESTCHESTER COUNTY

In Westchester County, approximately 200,000 people are at risk of hunger or are facing food insecurity

33% of the food insecure are children

25,000 grade school children in our public school systems receive free or reduced lunch; most of these children need food over the weekends and on vacations

22% of the County's hungry are senior citizens (age 60+) and that number will increase over the next 5 years

Reaching the new faces of hunger—working poor and seniors—presents new challenges as these groups are unable to use traditional food pantries and soup kitchens due to physical challenges or work schedules

Food insecurity causes health issues that compromise our communities, like malnutrition and diabetes, with everyone in need requiring access to more fruits, vegetables, protein and dairy products

Join the Fight: One Voice, One Vision To End Hunger

Our donors, agencies and volunteers share our vision to feed Westchester's hungry. Here, they voice why giving to the Food Bank for Westchester is a powerful way to make a positive contribution to children, families and seniors in need.

"We discovered that the Food Bank for Westchester can get 4 times as much for the dollar ...$1,000 is $4,000 worth of food...that's a real impact. This is an area where you can make an immediate difference and go to bed knowing that people nearby aren't going hungry."

- DAVID JAMESON, DONOR

"I just appreciate how lucky I am, and whether I'm repacking food, answering phones or helping out at a food drive, I'm happy to give back to those less fortunate by volunteering for the Food Bank for Westchester."

- LOU ZIMET, DONOR/VOLUNTEER

"Without the Food Bank for Westchester, it would be very difficult for food pantries like ourselves...to provide the services that we do..."

- PETER MCCUEN, SUPERVISOR
OSSINING FOOD PANTRY
TRINITY EPISCOPAL CHURCH

"When you're on a fixed income it can be very difficult...The only thing I have is my social security, so I really depend on the pantry."

- REBECCA W.,
FOOD PANTRY CLIENT

The Food Bank for Westchester maximizes the value of every dollar donated and has the capability to buy, store and transport food in bulk, making us the most efficient and effective provider of healthy, nutritious food to hungry people in Westchester County.

The food inventory comes from three key sources:

USDA: The Food Bank is recognized and approved by the USDA to receive and distribute federally donated foods.

Donated: Local donations are received from Westchester businesses, community food drives and the Food Bank's Food Growing program. National donations come from large food companies and distributors via the Feeding America Network.

Purchased: The Food Bank for Westchester purchases food at the wholesale rate from food suppliers locally and across the U.S.

"I am a single dad of a beautiful seven year-old girl...I never expected to end up in a situation like this. I worked in home remodeling for a long time and as things got harder, life happened. The Food Bank made a difference in my life and in my daughter's life."

Community Partnerships: Helping To Break The Hunger Cycle

Every year, individuals, organizations and corporations work with the Food Bank for Westchester to support those in their communities that need help.

VOLUNTEERS

In 2014, volunteers donated 19,882 hours by repacking bulk food in our warehouse, helping in our offices, serving on our board of directors and committees or assisting at special events.

In addition, many of our volunteers are people with different abilities coming from organizations like Cerebral Palsy of Westchester, New York School for the Deaf, Ossining Life Skills Program, Devereux Millwood and the Point Program.

ORGANIZATIONS

Schools, synagogues, churches, community and professional organizations raise funds and drive food donations for the Food Bank for Westchester to benefit families in need throughout the county.

Scarsdale Middle School has a long-standing history of support for the Food Bank for Westchester, supplying volunteers and donating food and funds. Some of the activities included repacking thousands of pounds of food collected over the school year in conjunction with Human Rights Day, an Acts of Kindness project that generated over $5,000 for the Turkey Drive, Chores for Charity which raised $7,000 to start a new food pantry for seniors in Yonkers and a mosaic created for the Food Bank offices.

The Yom Kippur Food Drive, created over 20 years ago with the participation of congregations throughout the Jewish community in Westchester, has generated thousands of pounds of food donations and thousands of dollars to support anti-hunger efforts on this day.

CORPORATIONS

Throughout the year, over 2,200 volunteers from 70 different corporations assisted in repacking and sorting food. The highlight of the Food Bank for Westchester's Corporate Program is the annual Golden Scoop Competition. In 2014, Capital One took home the coveted Golden Scoop Trophy by packing over 1,700 pounds of beans in the hour-long "fierce but friendly" contest. Golden Scoop helps the Food Bank get many tons of bulk product repacked and ready for delivery to the food pantries and soup kitchens.

FOOD DONORS

The Food Bank for Westchester receives food donations from retailers and wholesalers, corporations, churches and other organizations, as well as dedicated individuals.

The Links of Westchester: A donor group who volunteers to repack food and has "adopted" food pantries.

Mr. and Mrs. Josef Sink: Longtime donors who decided to use the money they would normally spend on holiday gifts to purchase food for people in need by shopping for and delivering food to the Food Bank office every month.

Sam's Club: In FY13-14, Sam's Club was the largest retail recovery donor for the Food Bank for Westchester, providing 104,743 pounds of food—or 87,286 meals—through its Elmsford location.

D'Agostino's: A high-quality, consistent source for the retail recovery efforts, D'Agostino's Port Chester donated 44,120 pounds of food—for 36,767 meals—in 2014, and assisted essential programs, like the Backpack Program, by running in-store donation campaigns.
